Office

A Rybel LLC Product

Providing a safe place for staff to work is crucial to a company's success but this is becoming harder and harder. QuickAlert is the solution to meet these distinctly modern challenges and protect staff members. QuickAlert is a quick and easy way for staff to alert security and/or everybody in the building to particular events (such as intruders or disturbances). QuickAlert can be adapted to meet any needs that you may have and is an affordable option for budget-scraped companies.

How it Works

QuickAlert can be triggered using a handheld panic button that staff wear on a lanyard or through buttons that are mounted throughout the facility. Using these buttons, staff can request security or place the building on lockdown. Using the app, staff have even more flexibility. Each business can specify exactly how they want the system implemented (confirmation requirements, alert methods, etc.) and we will deliver.

Wall Mounted Buttons

If you elect to employ the wall-mounted panic buttons, then we can affix them wherever you like, although the most common implementation is at each desk. This button can trigger multiple different alerts and will alert security of the exact location where the alert has been triggered.

QuickAlert

Handheld Buttons

If you elect to employ the hand-held panic buttons, then every staff member will be issued a panic button with a clip that can be attached to a lanyard or ID badge. This button can trigger multiple different alerts and will inform security of who has triggered the alert.

The App

All QuickAlert installations require the use of the iOS and Android app. All staff members are asked to install the app on their mobile device and sign in with their account. Through the app, staff members can trigger a whole host of alerts, provide more information to security, and receive "all clear" notifications.

Alert Types

Request Help

Staff members can request immediate assistance from security

Lockdown

Staff members can trigger a code red alert that puts the building on lockdown

Custom

Businesses can define custom alerts that are applicable to them alone. These custom alerts span from evacuation orders to alerting the staff of a momentous achievement.
